The University of Dayton's Ohio Eta chapter of Alpha Epsilon Delta, the international pre-medical honor society, is sponsoring a "Careers in Medicine" program for Dayton area high school juniors and seniors, Tuesday, March 8, at 8:00 p.m. in the John F. Kennedy Memorial Union Little theater.

Clifford G. Grulee M.D., dean of the Cincinnati Medical School will deliver the main address. Appearing with Dr. Grulee will be an intern from Miami Valley Hospital, Miss Margaret Carroll, supervisor of medical technology at Miami Valley Hospital; Benjamin King D.D.S., a local orthodontist, Brother Leonard Mann, Dean of Arts and Science, and Dr. Carl Michaelis, pre-medical advisor. This panel will present the spectrum of medical careers offered today, and will answer questions in their areas.

A coffee hour social will follow the lecture, where students may exchange questions with the panel members and pre-professional members of AED. A tour and demonstration of the various biology and chemistry labs will climax the evening.

This event is sponsored annually by AED in hopes of acquainting this area's future pre-professionals with the medical field and to stimulate interest in the U.D.'s pre-professional program.
